Dear Parents/Guardians:

The transition out of high school is bittersweet, whether your student is bound for college, the military or the work force. Students may feel anxious and excited to be entering a new chapter. For parents, this is your child's first step into the "real world". By preparing your student and yourself for this transition, you will see a successful first year out of high school.

Enclosed are a few helpful materials to aid you in transitioning you and your student out of high school. We hope you find this information useful and can easily implement it into your life. Remember, you can always contact your student's teachers, guidance counselor or principal if you have any questions or concerns.

Additionally, I would like to encourage you to maintain engagement with your student's education and career. As a parent, you play a large part in your student's success and your engagement is essential. Please contact me if you would like more information on any post-secondary transition that your student is interested in doing.

Thank you,

Julia Fletcher
